

NSP 2017-2022 Mid Term Review Abridged Report

South Africa's National Strategic Plan (NSP) for HIV, TB and STIs 2017 – 2022 is the country's fourth comprehensive strategic plan that outlines how the country's multisectoral response on prevention and management of HIV and AIDS, TB and STIs over the next five years will be implemented. It seeks to improve on the achievements of the NSP 2012-2016, which massively scaled up anti-retroviral therapy (ART) and sought to significantly reduce the number of new HIV infections.

The end of 2019/2020 financial year marks the mid-term of the implementation of the NSP for HIV, TB and STIs (2017 – 2022). SANAC embarked on the mid-term review (MTR) and is currently seeking a consultant/firm with the capability to edit, design and layout its abridged MTR report, illustrating female disaggregation only from Goals 1 to 4.

SANAC Strategic Information Unit seeks to appoint a services of a Service Provider to work closely with and other partners to develop the NSP abridged MTR report with female disaggregation only and include appropriate infographics.

Terms and Reference and guidelines of the abridged report can be found on SANAC website (www.sanac.org.za).

The closing date for submission of proposals including pricing with VAT is 13 March 2020.
